

A Professional Massage in the Luxury of your Home

Therapy Vouchers now available for Valentine's Day

Flowers, chocolates and a romantic dinner for two by candlelight can only mean one thing: Valentine's Day. In response to the season of romance, The Therapy Agency has launched the Therapy Voucher for those who want to treat their partners to a soothing one-hour complementary therapy massage in the luxury of their homes. This is a unique gift that is available for purchase online, 24 hours day, 7 days a week, via the agency's secure website.

The Therapy Agency is one of the largest suppliers of complementary massage therapists in the United Kingdom offering the most sophisticated online booking facilities. "Customers can type in a postcode, bring up a lists of therapists, see their photos and view details about their background," says Jason Parlour, Managing Director.

Customers are able to choose from a variety of therapeutic treatments such as massage, aromatherapy and reflexology. All therapists are rigorously selected registered professionals, totally committed to the highest standards. Sessions are arranged at mutually agreeable times including evenings and weekends.

Each gift voucher is redeemable against individual bookings with registered therapists. To purchase a Therapy Voucher online go to www.therapy-agency.co.uk/vouchers/ or telephone 0845 458 1977.

- ENDS -

For further information contact Jason Parlour (MD)

Tel: 0845 458 1977 Email: jason@therapy-agency.co.uk

Notes to Editor:

Launched in 2002 with now over 300 therapists registered, The Therapy Agency is a national organisation to promote reputable practitioners of complementary therapies to both private and corporate clients. “We always interview, we always check qualifications and references, plus we always seek evaluations from previous clients as well as ongoing monitoring of current clients with each of our therapists” explains Jason. With the most sophisticated secure online search and booking facilities available in this business sector, clients can book preferred treatments 24/7, at home, or in their workplace.

Preview sample images for publication can be viewed on the website:

<https://www.therapy-agency.co.uk/about/press/> For digital copies of these images ready for print, please contact us directly with your requirements.